armers Should Devote More Atention

The question at the head of this article is often asked, and answered n various ways. A common answer s, Fruit does not pay on my farm or be correct. It is correct to the extent that fruit growing on some farms and la some localities never has paid. The proper statement, however, would be, has never paid." It may be that it has not paid because no systematic effort has been made to make it pay. The reason, or the principal reason, that we do not grow more fruit in the West is because we can grow other things more easily than we can fruit in general. Fruit requires that degree of attention which we have not yet learned to give our crops in this great fertile region. Our main farm crops grow with but little attention. We grow with but little attention. have plenty of land and it is very fer-tile. We begin to plant and sow and continue as long as the season will let us, and we get a pretty good aggregate crop, as a rule, under any circumstances, because we have such a large acreage. If we had less land, and it was less fertile, our system of farming would be as unlike our present hap-hazard method as day is unlike night. We should then be compelled to be methodical and to calculate what would pay the best. The result would be that very often at least we should find that the same amount of labor bestowed upon fruit as would be bestowed upon other crops would return a much better

Fruit will not grow without attention. That is certain. Fruit culture is a constant warfare against the nu merous enemies of fruit culture. It is a constant study. But ordinarily it pays for all the trouble it necessitates, and it will pay better as the years by. We shall overcome some of most serious difficulties in time. Mi of the disappointment in fruit growing in the West has been caused by the personified exaggeration, the distincest present and exaggeration, the distinct tree pedidler. He is abroad yet and exceedingly lively. But he is not near as dangerous as he formerly was. That is to say, he does not find as many victorial as the say. time as he once did. Such journals as the Western Rural have exposed and denounced him so frequently that his occupation is not so profitable as it once was. It is very seldom now that he is found representing a reputable nursery. Formerly he did. But he travels on his own hook; and we desire again at this time to warn our readers against buying trees and plants from men who can not show their credentials from some nurseryman who advertises in our columns, or some one of equal respectability and reliability It is a safe way to write direct to head-quarters and learn from the nursery whether or not the man is its agent if he is, then hold the nursery strictly responsible for all the agent's repre-sentations, and if it does not stand by ais representations, let us know.

With care in selecting stock, and proper conditions and care, truit culture is to be commended. We ought to grow more fruit. As often said by us, we should all at least try to grow what fruit we need for a liberal homeography. It is in the interest of ealth and longevity to do so. health and longevity to do so. We eat too much meat in this country. I'nquestionably farmers would be longer lived if they consumed more fruit. And it will often be the case that a start in fruit culture for the sole purpose of providing for home consumption will often result in making the grower a grower of fruit for the make and nut money in his pockets market and put money in his pockets By such a beginning he will often demonstrate possibilities which he had no idea be possessed. When the spring comes, suppose the reader makes a start. Try the small fruits on a small scale and see if you do not find it profitable, even though you do not sell a quart. - Western Rural.

And it is probable those standing around idle may be anxious to know what kind of hands they want. The writer can inform them, for he has talked with the Sade only by BROWN CHEMITAL CO. BULTINGRE, MD.

farmers about just this question. They want such hands that the owner will know when the "barn chores" are finished either morning or evening, that the cattle, horses, hogs, etc., are all in their proper place, made secure from accident or from injuring each other; that they have been properly and plen-tifully fed and watered. He wants the assurance from the character and practices of his hand that when away on the road with his team it will be cared for. He does not want to be troubled and constantly following after his hand to see if the gate or bars are shut, the fence repaired in case of damage by stock or otherwise; that the gates and doors of the barn, stable and yard are shut at night. Nor does he want to follow after his help to pick up and take care of axes, hoes, rakes, harness and other farm implements. He does not want a hand that is so foul in his language and habits that he has to keep his young sons from associating with him. The farmer wants to have a little satisfaction of knowing that he has a hand, whether the owner be at home or away, that will attend to all of the business of the farm with fidelity, with as much care as if they were his own. These are some of the points of character the farmers want this year in the hands they employ. Nor need the hands be frightened at these requirements. They require no more thought—no more time—only a little more study how things should be done—a little more care about the formation of habits and a little sounder code of theories as to the duties of employer and employes.

A young man who is prepared to fill the foregoing requisites as a farm hand vill have but a short probationary tate in that position, as there will soon be a premium offered for his services in the higher walks of life.—Iowa State Register

Death of Mrs. Prince.

BOSTON, MASS, April 8 .- The wife of Hon. P. O. Prince, ex-Mayor of Boston and Secretary of the Democratic National Committee, died yesterday; siteracon at Keene, aged about fifty-eight. She has been an invalid for several years. She was born at Gibralter, where her father, Bernard Henry, of Philadelphia, was for many years United States Consul, having been appointed at the close of the last war with England. In 1858 she was married to Mr. Prince. Mrs. Prince was a sister of Morton Henry, one of the Jean ing lawyers of Philadelphia.

Where Was the Wife-Beater? New York, April 8 .- For nearly an hour yesterday afternoon Paddy Ry in and Charles Mitchell walted at the Police than the office for the coming of John L. Sullivan, who had promised to be on hand and give both of them a match with or without gloves, but the Bostonian did not appear, and Ryan left in a very angry mood, Mitchell following soon afterward. kyan declined to make the match excep alth Sullivan or his backer.

Accidentally Shot Himself. PORTIAND, ME., April 8. - Charles Plerce, of Woodfords, seventeen years old, fatally shot bimself yesterday morning white gunning on Deering Shore. It is surmised that he was leaning on his gun and that it was accidentally dis-charged. He bled to death.

THE RIEL REBELLION.

General Middleton Urging the Government to Forward All the Troops Possible

Volunteers to Be Allowed Their Time as Homesteaders-An American Half-Breed the Second in Command.

Ollawa, Onr., April 8 .- General Middicton has telegraphed the Government urging the necessity of sending all the troops possible into Quappello District, to go forward immediately. It is known that the Government received important news yesterday, but it refuses to disclose the facts. Private advices state that the rebels contemplate an advance on the troops before they are relatorced. There is a row of some kind going on between Quappelle and Prince Albert, but as the Government holds the wires, it s the Government house and wires, its stiff George Gerk (Dem.), 18,168.

advisable. A disputch has been received here from We satisfactor, D. C., April 8.—The at-action of the facilic Railroad have filed a large cattle tanch near Battleford, stating that all were well and safe at the barracks, in good spirits and quite able to keep off any number of redskins. It had been reported that both Wild and his brother had been massacred by Indians. It is stated that the Canadian Pacific folks have refused to transport any more troops over their line until the Lake Superior section is completed. In that event, any additional troops sent to the Northwest would have to go through the > Dismissed for Disloyalty. OLITAWA, ONT., April 8.-The Sixtysixth Battallon of Hallfax, being the first 'anadian corps to show signs of disloyalty when ordered to the Northwest, the Government last night informed the Colonel of the battalion that their servlees will be no longer required, although they were under or lers to leave for the orthwest this morning.

> Government advices indicate a strong disaffection among the Indians, which has now extended to the Bloods and Picgans, two tribes of Blackfeet Indians near Fort McLeod. Troops will be sent there immediately. The safe arrival of Indiau Instructor Applegarth at Swift Current is announced. He was reported murdered. The "Boys" Expect a Picnic, But the Old 'Uns, Who Have Been There, Are More Seriously Inclined.

NEW YORK, April 8 .- The tug-boats Nina and Catalapa conveyed the second detachment of marines for Aspinwall from the Navy Yard in Brooklyn to the Pacific Mail dock at the foot of Canal street, in this city, yesterday afternoon. As the tugs steamed around the battery and up the river the filers and drummers played stirring times, and the inen scat-tered at will around the boats laughing and chatting. When the pler was reached they quickly landed, formed in companies and marched on board the Acapulco in single mand and First Lieutenant Wm. F. Spicer is Adjutant of the detachment, which is to l'alwell the three inch guns. There are 110 men in the two batteries. Commander B. H. McCall is in command of the expedition. It was intended that the Acapulco should sail at two o'clock, but it was not until three o'clock that she swung out into the stream amid cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs A large crowd was on deck watching the departure. Among them were Lieutenant Emory, of the late Arctle expedition; Captain Walker, of the United States army; Lieutenant E. J. Arthur and Pay-master McGowau, late of the Vandaha. Commander McCall said: "I do not know how long we shall stay; but I suppose until the trouble is over. It seems already to be subsiding, and our thef difficulty will be the heat and

A naval officer who has had years' experience on the Isthmus, said: boys imagine they are going on a junketing tour, but I fear they will be sadly disappointed. It is not only foolish but outrageous for the Government to send a few hundred men down there at this season, when the spring rains and the chagres fever are setting in. Thousands of men will have to be sent and hundreds sacrificed.'

The Chicago Election.

Cute'soo, ILL., April 8 .- The morning opened somewhat gloomily, but the skies cleared up during the forencon, which brought out a tolerably full vote yesterday. Excepting in one or two wards, where knock downs were reported, the day passed off quietly. In the First Ward Mike McDouald struck a man named Riley in the face, and followed it up by drawing a revolver and pointing i at Riley. The polls did not close until seven o'clock, but at midnight enough returns had been received to indicate the election of Carter Harrison for Mayor and the entire Democratic ticket. The Republicans claim about 600 majority in 126 out of 192 precincts, but there are number of Democratic wards to hear from, which will give Harrison about 3,000 majority.

The Cincinnati Election. CINCINNALL, U., April 7 .-- With thirty precincts yet to hear from, it appears that the whole Republican ticket is elected, with the exception of Caldwell for Police Judge. Mr. Smith, Republican candidate for Mayor, is confident of elec-tion. J. W. Fitzgeraid, Democratic can-didate for Polico Judge, shows a chance for election. At 2:30 a. m. the footings were as follows, from thirty-seven pre-

APPEALING TO THE PRESIDENT Captain Couch to Go to Washington and

Set the Boomers Right. ARKANSAS CITY, KAS., April 7 .- Quite new phase has been put on the entire Oklahoma movement by the decision of the colonists to send Captain Couch to Washington in order that the alleged false reports regarding their intentions might be placed before President Cleve-land and the Secretary of the Interior. This was decided upon as an offset to the reports which the califemen and oposers of the Oklahoma movement have circulated in Washington, and which do the boomers great harm. The Couch colony, it is claimed, is not a gathering of idle vagabonds and adventurers who are ready and anxious to defy the law in or-der to accomplish their end, but are peaceable citizens, and the great majority are farmers bent on obtaining homes under the homestead act in the Okiahema country.

They have all along claimed, they say, that these lands were open to settlement under the act by which they were pur-chased from the Indians, and were it not for the hestility of the latter interests of the country, Oklahoma would long ago the been settled as thickly as Kausas.

marched into the Indian Territory; but they will not go in the face of the Presilent's proclamation, and seven companies of the Ninth Cavalry, and will now wait util Captain Couch returns. It is thought Captain Couch will depart for Washington to-night via Kansas City and Chicago.

The Quarrymen's Strike. JOLIET, ILL., April 8 .- The stone companies did not attempt to put men to work yesterday morning, and the anticisaid they were prepared for any emergency. The companies are doubtless awalting the action of the Governor, who has not yet ordered out the troops. The strikers say they are willing to the companies will pay them wages due. but this the companies refuse to do un-til pay day, on the 15th. The general opinion is that the company ought to do this for the sake of peace and to avoid bloodshed. Eight of the strikers were quietly arrested last night for riot, and the Sheriff maintains that there is yet no need of mulitia.

The Rayen BuntColliery Disaster. SHENANDOAH, PA., April 8 .- The damage to Raven Run Colliery by Monday's cave is so great that it is hardly likely the mine will ever be reopened. The point at which the men were working was directly under the fall, and there can be no doubt that they were instantly killed. S. Mugic, G. C. Reid and T. H. PITISBURGH, PA., April 8 .- About six sclock last evening J. R. McKee, one of Pittsburgh's most prominent oil brokers and speculators, while quietly sitting in rove's toy store, on Wood street, conrersing with several friends, suddenly frew a revoiver from his pocket and fired t bullet through his right temple, dying almost instantly. No cause is assigned for the act. Mr. McKee, until a few cars ago, was owner of the Liberty Oil Works, one of the largest on the Aite-gheny liver, but sold out to the Stand-ird, and engaged in the brokerage busiaess in partnership with N. The Late Dr. James Prestiey. The death of Dr. James Prestley, D. D., brother of Rev. W. H. Prestley, of this city, has been announced in these columns. It occurred suddenly at Mans field, Pa, on April 1st, caused by a brief attack of pneumonia and an affection of the heart. He was born June 23, 1815, in county Down, Ireland, and came to Pittsburg, Pa, in 1819. The deceased was a member of the United Presbytery, and was at one time stationed in New York City. Be held many high official positions in the Presbytery, and was one of its brightest preachers. He was the editor and publisher of the United Presbyterian, issued at Cincinnati, and he was also the author of several valuable publications bearing on matters pertaining to the church. The Mansfield Item devotes a column and a half article to the life and character of the Doctor, and the Pittsburgh Dispatch gives him a long obituary notice. Said the Dispatch: "Dr. Prestley, as a man, was very decided in his opinion and very outspoken in his expression of them. No one could have any doubt as to the views he entertained on any religious, moral or political subject. As a preacher, Dr. Prestley possessed a fine and striking delivery, which ar rested the attention of his audience and held it to the end. His sermons were always clear, and left a vivid impression on the minds of all who heard him. He was a man of learning and a forcible ter were siways acceptable and in demand both in his own denomination and in others. As a citizen, he took an active and intelligent part in both local and national affairs. During the civil war he was a very ardent supporter of the government and did no little to arouse publie opinion in defense of the Union. Combined with native graces of oratory his great virtue was in the forcible presenta-

Now, Bettle, apply it to your day's

"I might have reflected," said Bettie,

"that it would have been better to have deferred talking about it till after breakfast, and then have confined my

The next few days went more smoothly with Bettie, whether because she thought of the "Recipe" or not, but the following week brought her another unlucky day with Dame Worry in its wake, and Bettie had need of all her patience and firmness. To begin with, the children were wofully disappointed because a snow-storm pre vented a long-talked-of excursion, and Bettie saw that the "something to be done" was to amuse them in some other way. This she began at once to do, instead of indulging in an old-time fit of worrying at so unexpected an in-terruption to her own busily planned

Later on, a choice plate was broken by one of the children, but instead of wasting time in useless laments, Bettie promptly set about mending it, and succeeded so well she was astonished.

But the most trying thing of the day was caused by a servant's stupidity. Bettie was caught in her wrapper by a fashionable caller, but instead of col-annoyance, she determined Dame ceed in controlling herself in this way, but as the weeks flew by, Dame Worry was less and less seen in the Orton household; and as for Bettie, the new calm and repose of her hitherto somewhat excited manner lent her a charm which she had never before possessed. At last came a trial test. One even-of their property was lost, and they must greatly change their mode of liv ing. Bettie did not sleep much that night.

She had a hard struggle with Dame by worrying, she fell into a sweet slumber, from which she awoke with new energy for the unusual cares before her.

After that, Mr. Orton was daily astonished at Bettie. She cheered the children and fell to planning so ener-getically the reduction of the household expenses, she managed to keep up such good courage and even a certain infectious gayety, that Mr. Orton was comforted and strengthened for the new burdens which now fell upon

"Dear Bettie," said he one night me over that crisis. I think if you had worried about it, as John Black-man's daughter did when he lost his money, I should almost have gone

"Oh, papa," said Bettie, shuddering at the bare possibility, "I should have been a hard-hearted wretch to have added to your trouble by useless com-plaining; and then after all, I could

A PRIVATE LETTER.

Probably no man is better known or more highly respected than Mr. Julian S. Carr, President of the Blackwell's Durham Tobacco Co., of Durham, N. C. In every tobacco store in the United States, and in many foreign countrie, Blackwell's Durham Tobacco is sold, and it is a well-known fact that the sales of this Company largely exceed those of any other tobacco manufacturer. That such success has been obtained is due to the energy, integrity and ability of Mr. Carr, who has so successfully managed the affairs of the Company. Such a letter as the following, written by Mr. Carr to a personal friend whose only interest in the matter referred to was a desire to do a friendly act, is certo was a desire to do a friendly act, is certainly worthy of careful reading.

Durham, N. C., Feb. 25, 1885.

My Dear "Mac":—I have delayed writing to you, with reference to the Athlophoros remedy, until I could hear from a friend of mine, a gentleman of high character, who used Athlophoros at my suggestion with very great benefit. He is a tobacco manufacturer of high standing. I have waited to hear from him in order that I might use his name officially. I am satisfied, however, that he must be at the New Orleans Exposition, and my letters have failed to reach him. So I will not delay answering your letter longer. You want to know whether Athlophoros is really as good as you thought when you so kindly sent me a couple bottles. I had a sister who was a victim of neuralgia and rheumatism. She suffered intensely, and her condition gave her family and friends much concern. Every known remedy was tried, but without effect. When the bottles you sent me came, I sent one to great debt of gratitude for the relief the Athlophoros and considers herself well.

My sister-in-law, to whom I gave the other bottle, was suffering fearfully with neuralgia, she had become unconscious from to an intimate friend who suffered such in-tense pain in his head that he looked as if his eyes would start from their sockets, and by its use he has been greatly benefited, and tells me that he received such relief from it that he orders it by the box and keeps it at all times in his house-is never without it-can't afford to be, this is the gentleman to whom I wrote. I wanted to send with this his opinion in his own handwriting, but as I stated he must still be at New Orleans. A very must still be at New Orleans. A Very worthy colored man, a house carpenter, Jim Whitted by name, lives in the house adjoining "my man of all work." One morning my man told me that Jim was suffering so intensely from rineumatism that the neighborhood was disturbed day and night by his cries of agony. Wishing to test Athlophoros before my own eves on a remaine case of acute rineu-own eyes on a genuine case of acute rheumatism, I wrote the Athlophoros Company stating Jim's condition, and offering, if they would send me the remedy, to see that it had a fair trial in his case. I confess, with all my confidence in Atklophoros, I doubted whether it could help Jim, but it was faithfully tried and I think the proudest man now in all this community is Jim Whitted. He claims to be entirely relieved of all his rheumatism and not only that, but he says the tism and the stiffness in his joints, which came with the rhematism, has all been removed. Within thirty hours after he began to use Athlephoros, he felt like another per-son. These instances have all come under my personal knowledge. I am very slow to speak of or recommend any medicine, but when a remely has the virtue and the merit that I believe Athlophoros has, I cannot hesitate to recommend it. I have given you facts—don't they answer your question fully? Yourstruly, J.S.CARR.

"DAME WORRY."

Aunt Winnifred's Recipe for Geting Rid of Hor.

"Aunt Winnifred! many more days like this will drive me wild. Everything has gone wrong from beginning to end, and if this life is to go on I shall grow gray and wrinkled before I am eightecu!"

And there were actually two deep furrows between Bettle Orton's pretty brown eyes, which the ruddy firelight of Aunt Winnifred's cheeful open tire made only the more conspicuous.

Aunt Winnifred was one of those rare women whom a life of great trial had sweetened and whose restful calm of manner and loving heart attracted the confidence of every one who knew her. Of all the girls in Stafford, who loved to call her "Aunt Winnifred," none came to her for help and advice so often as Bettie Orton, apon whose shoulders her mother's leath five years before had thrown the care of a large household.

Bettie's home was only two doors from Aunt Winnifred's cosy cottage, ing, about a year later, Bettie's father told her that owing to the failure of a hitherto trustworthy bank, a large para and on this special evening she gladly seized the first opportunity for a chat with her ever sympathizing old friend. Why, what has gone so wrong with my Bettie to-day" said Aunt Winni-

"Well, in the first place," responded Worry, but at last, after a firm resolve and an earnest prayer to be kept from usual, which fretted papa and worried adding one jot to her father's troubles me so that we talked about it most of breakfast-time. Then I had to super-intend a stupid dressmaker all day, which always worries me dreadfully. She cut my sleeves too short, and when she saw I was annoyed, grew so nervous she made witchwork of everything. And what should pape do but bring a strange gentleman home to dinner, which didn't happen to be a very good one, and that worried me. To cap the climax, an important letter which I have been expecting every mail, didn't come to-day either! So here I am. Aunt Winnifred, and I want you to comfort me."

"Ah, Bettie," said Aunt Winnifred, "I see you are becoming too well acquainted with an old enemy of mine whom I managed to drop long years ago."
Bettie looked mystified, as well shu might. "You like to guess riddles," continned Aunt Winnifred, "now guess this. This old woman whom I do not want you to know tries her best to be intimate with everybody. She generally auccoeds better with women than men, not get Aunt Winifred's 'Anti-Worry and with older rather than with young Recipe' out of my head."—N. Y. Obpeople. Her friends become gray and wrinkled long before they ought to, and, in short, she's a person to be avoided, to be fought away inch by inch. Have you guessed her name? It is Dame Worey!" Bettie smiled. She always enjoyed Aunt Winnifred's quaint ways of put-

"Do you see, Bettie," continued Aunt Winnifred, "if you once let Dame Worry get a firm hold of you she will, little by little, slowly, perhaps, but surely, destroy your peace of mind just as the little fiame here will in time consume this large log, which I have just put on the fire."

"Well," assented Bettie, "granted then that I am beginning to become too well acquainted with Dame Worry, how am I to get rid of her?"
"Shall I tell you my own experience?

When I was your age, Bettie, I too had a great deal of care, and found by degrees that I was becoming a real worrier. At last even a trifle would be enough to destroy my happiness for a whole day, and the habit of worrying grew upon me to such an extent that my naturally contented and even disposition seemed to be changing. One day somebody gave me a bit of advice, which I turned into thyme. It is not very smooth, I grant, but the jingle has belped me remember what I call my 'Anti-Worry Recipe.'

Do you wish a recipe for preventing all worry. For giving composure and freedom from Just think of one fact, which is true you will mid:
